Description

This elephant pin brooch features a stylised interpretation of the majestic animal, decorated with sparkling crystals that bring subtle brilliance to the form. The curved trunk and balanced proportions create a recognisable and expressive silhouette that highlights the character of the design.

Elephants have long appeared as decorative motifs in jewellery, admired for their symbolism and distinctive shape. The combination of sculptural form and sparkling stones gives the brooch a distinctive presence while maintaining a refined and elegant character.

This brooch has been handcrafted in sterling silver using traditional jewellery-making techniques. The crystals are carefully set across the surface and the piece is hand finished and polished to achieve a smooth and refined appearance that enhances the detail of the design.
